Tea Time Talks Tea Spoils with Age

No tea is fit to drink after it is two years old. That is the age limit of tea quality and benefit. The best tea is the freshest.

"Salada" Tea owes much of its world-wide reputation to its sale fresh from the plantation. The leaves are fresh picked every week the year round; then dried, sorted and packed in airtight lead packages. Every five weeks a new picking of "Salada" comes fresh from plantation to purchaser.

Bulk tea, carried year after year, lose their freshness.

Ask your grocer for "Salada" Tea or send for a free trial package, which makes 25 cups of delicious tea. We will mail it to you without charge. Be whether you use Black, Mixed or Green Tea and the price you pay per pound.

HELD NO MEETING.

Despite the fact that yesterday was the day for the regular meeting of the commission, no meeting was held. At 5 o'clock the hour when the meeting should have been held, Commissioner Boulton and Hutchcraft made ready to go to the council chamber and informed to Mayor Armstrong that there were several matters of importance which should be discussed without delay. The mayor, however, was engaged with other business in his office. Nearly two hours passed before the remaining five commissioners could safely assume that no meeting would be held.

NEWS OF STRATHCONA

STRATHCONA BOARD FAVORS CIVIC UNION

Resolution Declaring in Favor of Amalgamation Passed by Board of Trade—Resolution Dealing With Reciprocity Is Not Voted Upon.

That this board endorse the action of the city council in appointing a committee of citizens to discuss with representatives of the city of Edmonton, the matter of union of the two municipalities and we are of the opinion that if an agreement should be reached that will provide another thing for the great possible means of communication between the two cities, together with adequate representation of this city on the common board, that such an agreement is in the best interests of this city.

Such was the motion of Dr. R. Archibald, put to last night's meeting of the Strathcona Board of Trade and passed by a majority of 14 to 12. The discussion on the subject was heard yet very pronounced and the vote indicated exceptionally well the feeling of the meeting, which was strong in favor of amalgamation, but sought to avoid throwing any stumbling blocks in the way of the committee of citizens at present investigating the subject.

Other Important Matters.
Other matters discussed were the report of the Central Alberta Development League and the reciprocity agreement. It was decided to throw the latter question out, it being thought by the majority of the members that it lay too close to the realm of politics to be handled by a business organization such as the Board of Trade.

A RECORD PRICE.
A record in real estate deals in Strathcona property has been established by the sale by the Northern Investment Agency of the property immediately south of the King Edward Hotel for $1,000 per foot frontage. The total sum realized on the sale was $115,000, the property having one hundred feet frontage on First street. The owners were Messrs. Calhoun and Ferguson and the purchasers outside clients of the Northern Investment Agency.

CASE WAS DISMISSED.

The case against Jim On and Mah Jim Onk, charged with threatening Yum Doan, in a Nanyana Chinese restaurant three weeks ago, was dismissed by the police magistrate yesterday afternoon. J. J. Connolly was counsel for the accused and H. H. Robertson conducted the case for the prosecution.

The two colored girls, Grace Dain and Emma Ferguson, charged with being inmates of a disorderly house, appeared before the police magistrate yesterday afternoon, and, pleading guilty, were each fined $25.

Aid to Reciprocity.

A communication was read from the United Farmers of Alberta, asking the Board of Trade to endorse the action of the government in bringing about the reciprocity agreement. Almost before the communication was started, an effort was made to file it; an amendment was at once introduced to endorse the agreement. The discussion that followed turned on the question whether a non-political body, such as the Board of Trade, should discuss the question. Messrs. Tipton, Christie and Jamieson spoke against a discussion on political lines; Messrs. J. J. McKinnis and Dair spoke in favor of it.

The motion of J. J. Tipton and R. H. Palmer, that the communication should be filed, was carried.

Dr. Archibald's motion, endorsing the question of amalgamation, was also carried. At this point it was discovered that a large number of citizens outside of the Board of Trade members were present. After some confusion had arisen, the trouble was dispensed of by throwing open the meeting to the public to freely offer views.

Benefits of Amalgamation.
Dr. Archibald pointed out that in his motion details were neglected, principles only being laid down. A motion that the Board of Trade did not bind them, but it would be a good stand to have taken in the case of amalgamation before the people of Strathcona in a plebiscite. The reasons in favor of the amalgamation were: (1) The prestige to be gained. Edmonton was known throughout the French and breadth of Canada and even the States and Europe. People have homes in other places to come to Edmonton and never think of Strathcona, the river, whereas Strathcona has many advantages to offer over Edmonton.

The second was the economy in administration of civic utilities in view of the fact that both cities would have in the near future, to provide for power and water. A duplication of power plants was a serious mistake; Strathcona had electric light and water bearing a revenue. Edmonton had publicly-owned utilities, producing a revenue and giving service cheaper than Strathcona's. By cooperation the cost would probably be further reduced.

The Debt of Edmonton.
Edmonton had a large debt in proportion to Strathcona. Why, it might be asked, should Strathcona, Edmonton and help bear the debt? On examination, however, it would be seen that per capita there was little difference.

The relative price of the bonds of the two cities was, also, a strong argument in favor of union. Edmonton bonds invariably sold on the market at a discount.

more favorable terms, which advantage would be shared by Strathcona.

Property Values Would Rise.
Property values would also rise, manufacturers would be more easily attracted in case of amalgamation. Wholesalers also, who were now locating in Edmonton, could be readily induced to settle on the south bank of the river.

As to running business, the street car service had been agreed upon and there was no reason to suppose that closer communication would hurt the city's interests. In that regard, increased transportation and population would only create larger demands.

Dr. Archibald was convinced that population would be increased under the union and all kinds of inter-urban strife would inevitably be dropped in the boosting of the great city.

Dr. Hetherford spoke in favor of the tenor of the motion, but depressed in content on the city council or the committee appointed to look into the question.

R. H. Christie pointed out that Dr. Archibald had gone very thoroughly into the matter and had satisfied him. Calgary was a serious rival and unless Strathcona and Edmonton got together they would be at a serious disadvantage in competition with the southern city, if they persisted in foolish jealousy.

Almerman Tipton stated that he had refrained from making any statement on this subject, but felt it his duty to express his opinion in favor of amalgamation for several reasons. First, Strathcona had the smaller population, Edmonton would be a greater impetus to real estate in Strathcona than in Edmonton. Industries also would come to Strathcona. What advantage would Edmonton have in stealing all the industries if amalgamation was brought about. It was unreasonable to suppose it possible. In municipal affairs, Strathcona represented the balance of the balance of power. Property would advance 50 or 100 per cent. Even the prospect of a new street car line would give a greater impetus to real estate in Strathcona than in Edmonton. Industries also would come to Strathcona.

The new population would make Strathcona a business hub and help instead of hinder Strathcona. Business would be there would be a population here of 200,000. The completion of the transcontinental and the opening of the north could not but put Edmonton in a position to compete with western cities. Calgary was far enough removed not to hurt us, and our agricultural land, our carbo district and our north country were in a position to compete with western cities.

As for changing the name, a "city" was a name which was small and sweet," said Almerman Tipton. "Let us treat the matter from a business standpoint. There is no money in petty squabbles. If amalgamation will double our property value, let us accept it as a good proposition."

An Amendment.
A lengthy discussion was then pre-empted by C. H. Grant's amendment to the motion, that all efforts "municipalities" be struck out, so as to leave the city committee's hands free to make a thorough investigation. It was finally intimated to the chairman, by repeated cries of question, that the members decided to take the decision on the amendment, H. B. Douglas, put the amendment, which was lost; the motion carried.

The meeting adjourned at 11:30.

TELEPHONE SYSTEM IN THE PEACE RIVER

Line Between the Crossing and the City to be Section Put into Operation—First Conversation Over the Line Carries Announcement Among the Settlers.

Peace River, Crossing, March 8.—The local telephone system was installed and put into operation here today. This afternoon a peace gramophone was turned loose in the central office much to the amusement of the subscribers and to the astonishment of the natives who were induced to listen at the phones. One old patriot was heard to remark in Cree that he always had a suspicion that all peace were slightly "off" but that he was now sure that they were "glibly" and "mushy-mouthed." This means that all white men are slightly "off" but how they are more like the Devil.

It is expected that the small amount of work remaining to be done on the line between this place and Shabaska settlement, will be finished as soon as the weather permits and telephone connection established with this place. Charles Hutton, manager for Revision Bros., at this place was married today by the Rev. H. Holmes to Miss O'Mara of Boston.

Sudden Death at Hotel.

The Castle Hotel was the scene of a sudden death last evening about half past five o'clock when the night clerk, Alex Brown died with little warning, from heart failure. Mr. Brown had been about the office as usual during the afternoon. Shortly after five o'clock he complained of feeling unwell and lay down. He became rapidly worse, however, and lay for a physician could come he passed away.

He was thirty-five years of age and a native of Belmont, Belfast, Ireland. The funeral will take place at half past two o'clock on Friday, from Campbell & McKinnis' funeral parlors to the Edmonton cemetery. The late Mr. Brown was a very popular person and his untimely death cast a deep gloom over the guests at the hotel last night.
